What is the Hospital Caterers Association?

Leading on the promotion of professional standards to enhance and improve NHS Catering services which support clinical needs across the 4 Nations.

Hospital Caterers Association was one of the first professional associations to be formed within the National Health Service. Inaugurated at a meeting of 25 London Hospital Catering Officers in 1948, it had enlarged to a membership of over 100 by the following year.

As interest grew amongst hospital caterers, the first branches were formed outside London in 1950, those being the North East Branch in Newcastle and the Scottish Branch in Glasgow. In the same year the Association was represented at Hotelympia for the first time.

The Association has continued to grow now having a membership of over 600 members from within catering and hotel services, represented by 15 Branches throughout Great Britain and Northern Ireland. Many senior members now hold positions in General Management, such as Hotel Services, Commercial and Facilities Management

The Association promotes

- The continued improvement of catering standards in Hospitals and Health Care Services.
- The education and training of persons engaged in the Health Care Services, including the encouragement of persons to join Health Care Services.
- The protection and improvement of the professional interests and status of those engaged in Health Care Catering Services.

It achieves these objectives through:

- A Code of Practice.
- A Code of Conduct.
- National Leadership & Development Forum and Study Days.
- Branch organisation and events – a National Representation of 15 Branches.
- The Hospital Caterers Association Journal, Good Practice Guides and numerous other communications.
- Representation on National Bodies.
